

Kim Feenstra

Kim Feenstra (the Netherlands, 1986) is a model and actress. Her modeling career started in 2007 when she won Holland's Next Top Model. Since then she has been featured in various fashions shows and editorials in magazines such as Glamour, Cosmopolitan, Beau Monde, Glossy and Harpers's Bazaar, including a beauty spread for Italian Vogue by Miles Aldridge (August 2013) and Greg Lotus (May 2013) and Dutch Vogue in March 2014 by Marc de Groot.

Kim was discovered on the streets of Amsterdam in 2006 when she was 20 by a Parisian agency. In 2007 her best friend signed her up for Holland's Next Topmodel, a modeling competition broadcasted on Dutch TV, which she won on May 14th that year. This was the true kick-off of her career.

In January 2014, Kim was chosen as model of the month by Iva Mirbach, Editor in Chief of FashionModelDirectory.com, the world's largest fashion database. "Kim looks up to Waris Dirie, and is the perfect choice to kick off the new year", according to Iva Mirbach.

Currently, she is the face of successful campaigns for brands like Hunkemöller, Garcia Jeans and Zinzi jewelry and works for many clients both nationally and internationally.

Other Activities

TEDxAmsterdamWomen

In December 2012, Kim gave a motivational speech about her life during the prestigious event TEDxAmsterdamWomen. Her goal was to inspire women to believe in themselves as she firmly believes that; "Only when you believe in yourself, you can create opportunities to realize your dreams".

Linda Magazine

In 2016 the well-known Dutch magazine Linda. published a very sexy photoshoot of Kim together with Dutch television host Geraldine Kemper. As expected, the images went viral which gave exposure to Kim's believe that it doesn't matter which gender you love, as long as there's love. Kim: "I am so proud of this shoot. I really exposed myself literally and figuratively. I just wanted to say: Be good to yourself. Don't care too much about what other people say. Do what you like, what makes you happy, whatever suits you. Dare to be yourself! And, let other people be themselves too."

FHM500 – Most beautiful woman of the Netherlands

Kim was chosen as the most beautiful woman of the Netherlands. For FHM500 Kim did a special fotoshoot to celebrate this title. Backstage video of the shoot: <https://youtu.be/KT9WJFFHJAs>

Fashion - The Legend Collection

In collaboration with clothing label Angel&Maclean, Kim designed a special collection of 11 limited edition items inspired by legends who made a change in the world like Nelson Mandela, rapper Tupac Shakur and mind blowing guitarist Jimi Hendrix. The collection proves she is not only successful in front of the camera, it also shows her great eye for detail in the clothes she designed.

Kim Feenstra as an actress

Next to modeling, Kim Feenstra is building her career as an actress rapidly. She already starred in some major Dutch movies like Mannenharten (2013 - Mark de Cloe - <https://youtu.be/FmNPFbhRdo4>), Verliefd op Ibiza (2013 - Johan Nijenhuis), Prinses op de erwt (2016 - <https://youtu.be/K6qrOch-2oM>) and the Turkish movie 'The Last Ottoman' (2007).

In 2012 she left a strong impression with her role in the Dutch TV crime series Van God Los (dir. Mark de Cloe). The serie tells stories about heinous criminal acts inspired by true stories. "Kim plays a starring role in which she dares to be real, pure and raw." Watch one of the scenes with Kim here: <https://youtu.be/wH28uaK-Qho>.

Kim Feenstra

Kim became known for her childish voice during Hollands Next Top Model. She later revealed being partly deaf on both ears due to an accident when she was a child. It is now one of her trademarks and even landed her the role of the wife of the puppet Topo Gigio in the Hollywood film production "The American dream of Gigio". The film, with a mix of digital animation and live actions, is made by executive producer Steve Waterman (Casper, Stuart Little, Alvin), former president of MGM and Paramount Gary Marenzi and the screenplay is done by Irene Mecchi and Bridget Terry (The Brave, The King Lion)

In love with Ibiza, (Verliefd op Ibiza) directed by Johan Nijenhuis, got the first place in the Dutch box office, with a total yield of more 5,1 million at the box office.

Kevin (Jan Kooijman) is a young footballer who recently made a multimillion deal by transferring to FC Barcelona. He hardly realizes what is happening to him. Too young, too rich, too beautiful. His girlfriend Elza (Kim Feenstra) knows how Kevin should spend his millions. She is eagerly anticipating her birthday where Kevin will ask her the most important question of all. Kevin's grandmother observes it all from the sidelines with concern.
